

Iteration and self-improvement of pointwise Hardy inequalities

Sylvester Eriksson-Bique

The Acta paper of Heinonen and Koskela contains the idea of iteration to build curves and to estimate modulus. I will discuss briefly how this idea can be pushed to yield geometric insights on self-improvement, new examples of spaces with Poincaré inequalities and, recently, new self-improvement results for pointwise (p,β) -Hardy inequalities.